

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This invention provides a sensitive method for detecting RNA-dependent 5 polymerase activity and for characterizing inhibitors of these enzymes, particularly NS5B of HCV and RT of HIV. The invention further provides methods wherein the elongation of RNA is measured in real time through the continuous detection of light generated from a reaction cascade involving a coupled enzyme system based on firefly luciferase.

10